

Enesco would like to advise that the exclusive piece (Jasmine 4026080) that is being designed for Druck Zuck has incurred some delays. Firstly, there have been some paint changes that were required to be approved by Jim Shore himself to make sure the piece has a point of difference vs previously marketed pieces, this will make sure the piece is truly exclusive not just a reintroduction. There have also been some planning and production delays that are outside of our control. We do hope to have this exclusive piece with Druck Zuck for the start of 2023 and it is very much worth waiting for.

In terms of the Carved by Heart piece that was originally planned as an exclusive for Druck Zuck unfortunately this piece was not successful in being approved and it will be replaced by a new piece - Fab 5 which will be coming soon.

We do apologise for the delays as these items have been in the planning for a considerable time.
